INVESTMENT COMMENTARY

SKAGEN Focus underperformed global equity markets in the month. In early August, the highly anticipated interest rate hike in Japan caused significant turmoil in the financial markets, leading to a major unwinding of the carry trade.

The fund's Japanese holdings, a total of five positions at the end of the month, were weaker in the period. The temporary weakness was used to accumulate positions in the financial conglomerate Japan Post Holdings, game developer Akatsuki and regional bank Hyakugo Bank.

One of the strongest performers in the month, fuel injection component producer Phinia, exited the fund as the position hit our price target.

We increased our position in Korean automotive supplier Hyundai Mobis, as we believe margins will expand and a restructuring of the Hyundai group could be beneficial for the stock. We also initiated a new position in Kalmar, a material handling company recently spun off from Cargotec in Finland, as we see it trading at significantly undervalued multiples compared to its fair value and peer group.

The recent decline in certain cyclical stocks has significantly increased the upside to our fund's weighted price targets.

Historical returns are no guarantee for future returns. Future returns will depend, inter alia, on market developments, the fund manager's skill, the fund's risk profile and management fees. The return may become negative as a result of negative price developments. There is a risk associated with investing in the fund due to market movements, currency developments, interest rate levels, economic, sector and company-specific conditions.

RISK PROFILE

We have classified this product as 5 out of 7, which is a medium-high risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium-high level. Other risks not included in the summary risk indicator but materially relevant: Event risk, liquidity risk, operational risk, counterparty risk, derivatives risk. Be aware of currency risk. You will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depends on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.
